

Holistic Massage

Massage is a healing art which has existed for thousands of years. Everyone can benefit from massage, whether to maintain health, to help combat stress or to treat a specific condition. Or you may simply feel in need of some pampering.

How can massage help you?

Massage helps relax and tone the muscles and skin, stimulating the flow of blood and encouraging lymph drainage. This allows more oxygen to reach body cells and gets rid of waste, thereby aiding all body systems to function more efficiently.

Massage helps to recreate the need for touch which can be very healing in itself, bringing about a greater sense of balance and well-being.

Regular massage improves overall health and helps to combat stress (stress suppresses the immune system). It provides a space for total relaxation in which the body can heal and revitalise. Massage also heightens body awareness, helping redress the balance in our mind-oriented society.

What does treatment involve?

Sue works intuitively with different techniques including Swedish, neuromuscular and spine and neck realignments. You may come for massage predominantly for relaxation or you may have specific areas of tension where deeper massage is required, most common on back, shoulders and neck – or you may need a combination of techniques. The treatment is tailored to your needs. Relaxing Massage soothes away stress bringing deep relaxation to body and mind. It is a profoundly nourishing experience. Deep Tissue Massage is used for the relief of muscular aches and pains. Knotted, tense, painful or fatigued muscles are soothed and invigorated.

Aromatherapy

Aromatherapy uses a combination of relaxing massage and pure essential oils. These plant essences are extracted from various parts of plants and are said to possess powerful healing properties. They are easily absorbed by the skin, hence massage has been found to be the most effective way of using them. Via the skin, the oils enter the blood stream and are carried to every cell in the body. Combining fragrant oils with massage makes full use of our most primitive senses – smell and touch.

How can Aromatherapy help you?

Aromatherapy helps a wide range of both physical and psychological problems, especially skin complaints and stress related problems such as anxiety, depression, insomnia and headaches. It also helps boost the immune system. Other examples of where aromatherapy may help: muscles and joints eg. Muscular pain, arthritis, fibrositis; respiration eg asthma, coughs, colds; digestion eg. Constipation, IBS; menstruation eg PMT, period pain, fertility; circulation eg. Blood pressure, water retention, cellulite.

What does treatment involve?

Your first aromatherapy session will start with a consultation after which a combination (or synergy) of oils will be chosen to suit you.

Reflexology

Massaging and touching the feet to help the body is a very ancient practice. Pictures showing a type of foot massage were discovered in an ancient Egyptian tomb. For American Indian tribes, the use of massage on the feet was considered a method of maintaining physical, mental and spiritual balance. Reflexology can be related to the ancient Chinese healing therapy of acupuncture, which is used to help unblock the flow of energy, allowing the body to heal itself.

What is reflexology?

Reflexology is a holistic therapy that treats the feet in order to encourage the whole body back to its natural state of balance. By applying pressure to parts of the feet known as reflex areas, connected areas of the body will feel the benefit. Reflexology sees the feet as a mini map or mirror of the body's anatomy, and in this way any body system can be accessed and stimulated.

How can Reflexology help you?

Reflexology relieves stress and tension and has a deeply relaxing effect - 75% of disease is said to be stress related. It improves blood circulation, increasing the supply of oxygen and helping to maximise the efficiency of all organs and cells. It improves the efficiency of the nervous system and during a session approximately 7000 nerves are stimulated.

What does treatment involve?

You will be asked to remove shoes and socks and lie on a treatment couch so that you can completely relax.
